Peerless has replied to the complainant by contending, since the patient was having head injury the emergency department suggested admission in National Neuro-science situated in the same complex however, run by different organisation. National Neuro-science does not have any Swasthya Saathi registration. Hence, question of Peerless refusing admission under Swasthya Saathi does not arise.

The complainant would also admit in course of hearing, subsequent admission was done in Neuro-science where his son was treated.

We do not find any scope to interference.

The complaint is thus disposed of without any interference.
